Attention is called to the readings to be given by George Riddle in Phillips Academy Hall, on November 18th, November 25th and December 9th. The first part of each programme is to consist of scenes from a play of Shakespeare, the plays selected being, "Merchant of Venice," "Julius Caesar" and "Macbeth".
Mr. Riddle holds a very high place in his profession and can be relied upon to interpret these selections not merely with dramatic power but with delicacy.
Each programme will conclude with a miscellaneous group of pieces which will exhibit Mr. Riddle's powers in a lighter vein.

Walter Rhodes has discontinued the sale of cigars and tobacco and instead will do a lunch business, carrying sandwiches, "hot dogs," oysters, raw, stewed and in crumbs, soups, etc., with a probability that a more elaborate menu will be served later. This is an experiment with Mr. Rhodes for since he has been in business for himself nothing of this sort has been attempted. When his brother, Thomas E. Rhodes, had the adjoining store, he carried on a successful lunch business at one time, and the place was a popular one with both student and town trade.

held on Sunday night at the South hymns such as Geneva and Denmark besides other music. It will consist of Mrs. S. S. Thompson of Melrose, Dr. and Mrs. Gilbert and T. F. Pratt. The pastor will review a sermon preached by Rev. Samuel Phillips in 1753, first in the South church here and later in the Old South church in Boston.

It is now planned to open the Town hall with a reception, dramatic and musical entertainment, to be followed by a dance, the opening to occur probably on the 24th or 25th of November.
Two farces will be given, one entitled,
"Who is Who," the other "A Straw Man." The money received from the affair will be used to help pay for the scenery. It is likely that the tickets will be fifty cents each and that they will soon be on sale. A large attendance of townspeople is expected as nearly everybody is interested in the appearance of the remodelled Town House.

To the Ballardvale Republicans.

Now that the issue, upon which certain members of the republican party in Ballardvale have been opposing me, is settled, it seems not improper to answer several of the unfair and unfounded statements which have been circulated in Ballardvale during the contest now closed.

From the best information obtainable, the opposition to my candidacy from Ballardvale was grounded upon three charges: 1, that I had supported a democrat in place of a republican for town office; 2, that I had stated that "Ballardvale didn't amount to anything anyway"; 3, that I had endeavored to deprive Ballardvale of an important express train from Boston.

The first charge is certainly true, but if it were modified to apply to a "particular democrat" to whom a certain element of Ballardvale is bitterly opposed, it would come nearer to a correct statement of fact. I have no excuse to offer to this first charge. I have supported Mr. Stark because I have found him worthy of support and for no other reason. If he has worked in my interest during the past campaign, he has undoubtedly done so out of an honest appreciation of support he has received in the past from me, and because of a feeling of common and decent gratitude. I regret exceedingly that this show of common decency should be so sadly dimmed to the B. V. vision in the fear of a sequel: I am not at all worried by such a possibility.

The next charge has little foundation in fact. I am well aware that in a warm public debate several years ago a remark was made that could be distorted, if one wished, into such a statement as is now charged, but no such insult was ever uttered or intended.

The third charge is absolutely false. The petition for the change in the 3-14 Boston train was circulated by another gentleman, who, unfortunately for him, bears the same name I do, and pushed before the railroad officials by the same person.

I regret exceedingly that such methods should be used in Ballardvale, last Tuesday, to defeat me for an office to which I had been called unanimously by an Andover Republican caucus. It would have been much pleasanter had the entire republican party of Andover remained loyal to the party choice, rather than to have even a small section of it go to such extreme lengths in working out a personal feeling. I can only hope that the work I shall do for the 8th district in the legislature may serve to lead all sections of the town to ultimately approve the action of the large majority so heartily expressed last Tuesday.

The case of the six young men who are alleged to be implicated in the wholesale larceny of groceries from the Essex street firm of E. J. Clement & Co., was not tried Thursday morning owing to the absence from the city of two important commonwealth witnesses. The defendants were arraigned, however.

After entering a plea of not guilty, bail was fixed. William H. Duffy and James Creevan, former clerks who are now engaged in the grocery business for themselves in the Bateman block, So. Broadway, next door to the Clement & Co. branch store, were charged with receiving a quantity of stolen goods. The young men were represented, respectively by Attorneys John J. Donovan and W. J. Bradley of the firm of Bradley & Rogers. Bail was fixed at $1000 each.

Fred F. Smith, head clerk in the Essex street store, represented by Attorney L. S. Cox of the firm of Sweeney, Dow & Cox, was charged with larceny and as the attorney for the prosecution, John P. Kane, esq., informed the court that he expected to show more than the larceny of a tub of butter in this case, bail was fixed comparatively low, $100, being named as the sum.

The other three were held in bonds of $500 each on the complaint of larceny of a quantity of goods from the Essex street grocery store of E. J. Clement & Co. The young men are Patrick J. Carroll and Maurice Fitzgerald, clerks at the South Broadway branch store, and Frederick Desbarre, clerk in the Essex street store. Fitzgerald was represented by Attorney John P. S. Mahoney while W. J. Bradley appeared for Carroll. Desbarre was not represented.

In all of the cases Judge Stone ordered a continuance of one week until the morning of Thursday, November 13, unless called sooner.

VALUABLE GIFT FROM HOME CLUB.

Gen. Lawton post, C. W. V., had a rousing meeting Wednesday night. Ten applications for membership were received indicating an appreciation by the old vets of the city of the manner in which the Post is supporting their interests.

A valuable acquisition to the Post room has been received from the Home club as a permanent loan consisting of a complete set of Moore's Rebellion Record, some sixty volumes in all with maps, photographs, etc., issued by the government, together with a handsome library case. This Record contains all the orders issued by the Union commanders during the war with a wealth of historical data that is indispensable to every historian of that period.

The Post passed a vote of thanks to the club and decided to make these documents the basis of a library of American historical literature. Comrade William S. Hopkins was chosen librarian. Comrade Hopkins is well qualified for his task being a member of the Rhode Island Soldiers' Monument commission and now engaged in editing the history of one of its regiments. The Post also voted to engage Maj. Henderson of Chicago, "the drummer-boy of the Rappahannock," to give an entertainment at the city hall to the children of the public schools as soon as his engagements will permit. He enlisted as a drummer when but eleven years of age, received from Gen. Burnside commendation for gallantry at the battle of Fredericksburg, and with his son has for years travelled through the country giving concerts the main attraction being their wonderful performances on the drum and fife.

Gen. Lawton Post is to be congratulated in its enterprise in giving the public free of charge such high-class entertainments of a patriotic character as exemplified in the last by Dr. Bicknell.

STEPPED AGAINST A HOT STOVE.

A child of Mrs. George T. Benson, when getting his usual Saturday night bath, stepped back against a hot stove which burned him severely. The child was in great agony and his mother could do nothing to pacify him. Remembering that she had a bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm in the house, she thought she would try it. In less than half an hour after applying it the child was quiet and asleep, and in less than two weeks was well. Mrs. Benson is a well known resident of Kellar, Va. Pain Balm is an antiseptic liniment and especially valuable for burns, bruises and sprains. For sale by E. M. & W. A. Allen, Andover.

BOTH LEGS BROKEN.

Eugene Paradis, the 10-year-old son of Patrolman Alfred Paradis, was seriously injured about 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, both of his legs being broken at the thigh.

He was playing about the doorway of the stable at his father's residence, 22 Wendell street, when the large sliding door came off the truck and toppling over crushed the little fellow beneath it.

He was picked up and taken into the house and Dr. W. V. Grant was summoned. When the doctor saw the seriousness of the case he called in Dr. W. R. O'Connor and Dr. A. H. Pettit who set the broken bones.

About a year ago the little fellow was struck by an electric car on Broadway and quite badly injured.

All Stuffed Up

That's the condition of many sufferers from catarrh, especially in the morning. Great difficulty is experienced in clearing the head and throat.

No wonder catarrh causes headache, impairs the taste, smell and hearing, pollutes the breath, deranges the stomach and affects the appetite.

To cure catarrh, treatment must be constitutional—alterative and tonic. "I was afflicted with catarrh. I took medicines of different kinds, giving each a fair trial; but gradually grew worse until I could hardly bear taste or smell. I then concluded to try Hood's Sarsaparilla, and after taking five bottles I was cured and have not had any return of the disease since." EUGENE FORBES, Lebanon, Kan.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Cures catarrh—it soothes and strengthens the mucous membrane and builds up the whole system.

IMAGINATIVE CHILDREN.

Probably most readers, especially those who are mothers, have listened to the child, usually about 6 years old, who comes in with quickened breath and glowing eyes to earnestly announce some impossible wonder he has just seen or heard. Some little fellows have a way of retelling the most fabulous stories of the happenings they have witnessed and are listened to with delight by their elders who understand them and know that they have no thought of deceiving them. Indeed, these children may be strictly truthful, and truthfully retelling the most fabulous stories of the happenings they have witnessed and are listened to with delight by their elders who understand them and know that they have no thought of deceiving them. Indeed, these children may be strictly truthful, and truthfully retelling the most fabulous stories of the happenings they have witnessed and are listened to with delight by their elders who understand them and know that they have no thought of deceiving them.

No matter how much we may secretly chuckle over a child's stories, it is our imperative duty to the child to sift these tales, get at the exact truth and require him to confess in a few simple words. He can soon be taught in childhood that these tales are wrong and will get him into trouble, but if the habit is encouraged and neglected even for a few years, it will be confirmed and will surely make him despicable in one way or another.

DIVORCE DECREE SET ASIDE.

Judge Sherman has set aside the divorce decree granted a year ago to Joseph Garner, who accused his wife Elise of infidelity, on the ground that the decree was obtained through fraud and perjury.

Judge Sherman heard the case several weeks ago. It developed that Garner had been informed by a boy that his wife had had improper relations with the boy's father. The boy afterward admitted that he had lied and that had seen none of the occurrences to which he testified in detail at the hearing in the divorce libel.

At the hearing before Judge Sherman, Sweeney, Dow & Cox, who represented Garner, sought to show that the boy was lying when he said he had testified falsely and that he really told the truth when he described the alleged acts of infidelity. Knox, Coulson & Currier, who represented Mrs. Garner, offered evidence in support of the contention that the boy had committed perjury and that there was no truth to the accusations made against Mrs. Garner. Judge Sherman's decision sustains the wife.

WEDDING INVITATIONS.

In the first place let the bride see to it that the invitations go out between two and three weeks before the wedding, for 18 days is the proper time instead of 14 as has long been the custom. The newest lettering is the old-fashioned simple script is always good form if one is conservative enough to prefer it.

The name of the person to whom the invitation is sent should always be written in: it is no longer the thing to "request the honor of your presence." This writing in of the name seems to make a more personal matter of the invitation, and suggests the simple customs of old times, when the bride asked only her most intimate friends to be present at the most solemn occasion of her life, and the Housekeeping. The modern theory of weddings is far enough removed from that idea, but the gracious suggestion of it in spite of the formality of the engraved invitation is certainly pleasant, and makes the invitation even more of a compliment to the guest. Of course the name is written in by a skilled penman, who makes it harmonize with the engraving and some of the old English lettering is beautiful.

The very newest form of words omit the names of bride and groom altogether from the invitation proper, and incloses separate cards of the young people, engraved to correspond in style and size of script. This naturally makes the invitation shorter, and as under any circumstances, the size of the card is always the same—six and a quarter by five and a quarter inches is the approved size—it gives a good effect of more compactness and wider margin. It is an innovation, but a very elegant one, pronounced absolutely correct by the proper authorities.

THE LEGEND OF WILLOW PATTERNS.

The old-fashioned blue and white china is very much in vogue just at persons use the familiar old willow-pattern dishes without knowing the romance of the design. It is the old, old story in the mansion on the right dwelt a wealthy mandarin with his only daughter, Li-chi. This young lady was in love with her father's secretary, Chang, whose modest residence was on the island, seemingly at a great distance from the mainland, on the upper left side of the platter. One day, so the story goes, the mandarin heard the lovers plighting their vows under the orange tree by his house, and pouncing down upon them, he then and there forbade their future meeting; whereupon they eloped and for a time hid in the gardener's cottage beyond the bridge and the willow tree. The three figures on the bridge represent the mandarin and two of his servants on their way to the island place, but when they arrived there the lovers had already escaped in a boat to Chang's island home, and whither the mandarin also followed and would have slain them in his wrath had not the gods kindly changed them in the nick of time into a pair of turtle-doves, shown at the top of the picture. It is called the willow pattern because the flight of the lovers took place in the season when the willow sheds its blossoms.

Blood Wine Checks Catarrh

"If you are not careful you will have Ozoena!" This remark was made to the writer of this article one day by a specialist who was treating him for catarrh. Few people know what Ozoena is. Well, it is an advanced stage of catarrh—the point where the bone bordering the nasal passages—the posterior cavities—commences to decay, and there comes from the head a steady discharge of yellow mucus which smells dreadfully. When one has Ozoena you can't stay in the room with him on account of the smell. Catarrh if it remains in the head will invariably run into Ozoena in time. It goes down the bronchial tubes it will terminate in consumption. Which would you prefer? Catarrh is a diseased condition of the mucous membranes, and is caused by poor nourishment of the membranes by the blood—in other words, a diseased condition of the blood.

Local applications wouldn't cure catarrh in a hundred years. You must use internal means and reach it through the blood. As a scientific cure for catarrh, "Blood Wine" is admittedly the newest and most reliable form of treatment. It quickly stops all those aggravating features of the annoying and fatal disease, such as dropping in the throat, sore throat, excessive secretions from the nose, spitting up of hard chunks, watery eyes, etc., and cleanses the nasal passages. Mrs. Annie Krechbuhl of 424 F Street, Louisville, had catarrh so bad and so far advanced that she was on the verge of passing away. She made a hard fight and won. Now she can't say enough for "Blood Wine." Listen:

"For fifteen years (think of it—and the best years of her life) I suffered with catarrh, which led to a stomach trouble. I grew worse and worse, and could hardly walk across the room. As I had taken all kinds of medicines with no result, I had almost given up hope. When 'Blood Wine' commenced to advertise in Louisville I sent for a sample bottle, and later purchased three more. I have now finished my third bottle, and can truthfully say that catarrh has wholly left me, and I can walk around without getting tired. My strength is returning and I feel like a new person. I will never let all sufferers with catarrh 'Blood Wine' is the medicine to take if they want to be cured."

If you have catarrh, depend upon it Mrs. Krechbuhl has not overdrawn its value one bit. You can rely on "Blood Wine" doing just as much for you.

Send your name to the Louis Daudelin Co., Worcester, Mass., and receive, free of charge an expert examination of your blood. "Blood Wine" costs fifty cents.

The Election.

With but one exception, Andover registered the largest vote in her history at the election last Tuesday. We have heard a great deal the past month about apathy, but if such a thing existed it had pretty completely disappeared by election morning. The weather was fine and the public interest was very gratifying to all parties. While the republicans polled a very handsome vote, it cannot be gainsaid that the democratic vote showed a very large increase, getting back very near to its palmiest day figures. This was due not a little to the splendid work of the local committee. The socialist vote also showed a marked gain, and indicates that it is not alone in the cities where this party is making gains. With leaders of ability, it would not take a very long time for the condition of affairs to arrive where there would be three strong parties to be taken into account in Massachusetts.

While the loyal republican feels a great deal of satisfaction over the result of the election, the thinking citizen cannot afford to ignore the conditions which exist. A great many republicans voted their party ticket because they could see nothing better, not because of an abundant satisfaction. They stood loyally by their party in the hope that the grumblings of the day might be heard and heeded, and the remedies applied by the republican party. The existence of this condition of things means that the republican party is on trial in American national life as it has not been before for many years.

The local result was most gratifying. For the personal side of it, the writer can express no better thanks than to promise his best service. Andover stood loyally for Col. Ames for congress and Mr. Frost for senator, and we believe both will prove worthy of the trust. Now let us all continue to partake of the country's splendid prosperity.

Editorial Cinders.

There is quite widespread dissatisfaction over the new law which compels the closing of business and manufacturing places for two hours on election day. It is hard to say who dislikes it most, the employers or employees. It makes a bad break in the day not only for the beneficiaries, but for a much larger number who have no need or desire for the time off. Several voters looked upon it as a sort of compulsory voting law and rebelled accordingly; but the fact of the matter is, it is a compromise measure modifying a bill introduced by a socialist democrat who wished to make the entire day a holiday.

The Grangers are having their annual fair again, and that is enough to say they are having a good time again. More than that, everybody who partakes of their hospitality is also enjoying himself. The only man we ever envy is the farmer in this year of 1902.

There is little doubt but that the majority of the citizens of Andover are going to be very much pleased over their new public building; i. e., new in its interior ornaments and conveniences. In two weeks the opening is planned, and, in addition to a public reception, it is hoped that a full house may be attracted to the hall, to contribute each a little toward the purchase of additional scenery for the remodelled stage.

Andover-Exeter tomorrow. "If it should prove to be a red letter day" for Andover it would be contrary to the generally accepted notion regarding that team, so we will hope it may be a "blue day". Blue skies, and blue stockings, with old Andover blue everywhere triumphant. The boys owe it to their new principal, who has done so much for athletics, to make the first great game under his regime a great victory.

Free Church Notes.

The Young ladies of the Free Church met last Tuesday night to consider the formation of a social club and decided to hold regular meetings for the season on Tuesday evening of each week.

Joseph W. Smith represented the Free church at a council in Billerica, Thursday, to consider the ordination of Rev. A. E. Wurst to the Gospel ministry; and Rev. F. A. Wilson gave the charge to the people.

STRONG ENDORSEMENT

Local Republicans Loyally Support Party Ticket with Andover's Candidacies Votes Ahead

Fine Day and Big Vote.

Andover polled a big vote at the state election last Tuesday, almost the largest in the history of the town and without doubt the largest in an "off year". Two years ago, the presidential year, the whole number of votes cast in town was 1088; this year it was 973.

For the first time in a good many years there was an opposition candidate for representative to the general court, in the eighth district, the democrats having nominated John H. Morse of North Andover to run against John N. Cole of Andover, editor of the Townsman. Mr. Cole had been nominated by a caucus composed of a majority of the leading business men of the town, the nomination being practically unanimous. His vote in town on Tuesday was a flattering endorsement of the action of the caucus and while he lost the votes of a few dissatisfied republicans who would not vote for him from motives of personal enmity, he gained enough democratic votes to more than overbalance these and put him at the head of his ticket. In Ballardvale similar conditions prevailed but many republicans believing they had good cause to oppose him voted for the democratic nominee and Mr. Cole was defeated in that section of the town by 28 votes. He went out of Andover 300 votes to the good, however, and this was increased by 43 in North Andover and 71 in Middleton over Mr. Morse, making his total plurality 414.

Col. Butler Ames of Lowell, the republican candidate for Congress, to succeed Hon. William S. Knox from the 5th Essex district, received a loyal support in Andover as did in fact all the republican nominees.

Andover's large vote was due to the untiring efforts of both the republican and democratic town committees, although the republicans put in the harder work and with a little better results. Each committee kept several teams going all day and many voters were brought to the polls.

The polls were opened at 6:30 a. m. The votes immediately began to drop into the ballot box in a steady stream as the mills were closed to allow the employees to vote and did not open until 8:30. The first ballot was deposited by Deputy Sheriff George S. Cole, father of the nominee for representative, and following him by H. F. Chase, Frank McDonald, W. H. Burt, William Piddington, Morris J. Holt, Ballard Holt, C. A. Sullivan, Walter C. Donald and John Henderson. In the vicinity of 300 votes were cast by 8 o'clock and over 500 by 11. It was then thought that the vote would be large as it proved to be. Last year the total number of votes cast in the town was only 657 but in Precinct 1 alone this year were registered 812 votes.

The first set of counters consisting of William A. Allen, William Cheever, Patrick Dwane and Michael Welch went to work at 9 o'clock counting and had made good progress by noon. Along toward the latter part of the afternoon the deputies were put on counting also. The votes were all counted a short time after the polls were closed at sunset at about twenty-five minutes of five. During the last half hour of voting the republican votes came in rapidly.

No better day could have been had for election and it is therefore no wonder that the voters came out well. The election officers were as follows: Precinct 1, warden, George A. Higgins; deputy warden, Frank H. Hardy; clerk, William J. Burns; deputy clerk, Daniel A. Collins; inspectors, Louis A. Dane, William J. Doherty; deputy inspectors, Michael J. Crowley, J. Frank Morse.

Stuart J. Smith and Martin Doherty acted as checkers. Precinct 2, warden, Howell F. Wilson; deputy warden, Clester E. Matthews; clerk, Owen F. Caffrey; deputy clerk, Michael J. Flaherty; inspectors, Frank E. Parkhurst, Nathan E. Mears; deputy inspectors, John E. Dearborn, Martin McKee.

The votes having all been counted the precinct officers went to work on tallying up and verifying results. A slight discrepancy between the number of votes counted and the check lists caused a slight delay and it was not until the error was found and remedied that the result could be declared at 5:45 as follows:

CARS RUNNING.

Line to North Andover and Haverhill opened for Traffic this Morning. Through Cars for Boston.

At last! When one says that they have said a good deal.

For the past year the residents of Andover and North Andover have been looking forward to the opening of a line of electric cars which would connect the two towns. The road has been promised and work has been underway for a long time but no cars have run between the two towns for the accommodation of passengers until today. Cars have run from Railroad Square in North Andover to Den Rock road for some months but it is only this fall that cars could run way through to Andover Square.

This morning the cars began regularly or rather made an attempt to, for the first car left the track near Andover Square as the rails had not been cleared so that the flange of the car wheel would have a place to run. Last evening a car came over on a trial trip as far as Summer street.

The cars leave Andover Square at 6:30 a. m. and hourly until 8:30 p. m., returning leave Railroad Square, North Andover, at 7 a. m. and hourly until 8 p. m. It is doubtful whether the people of Andover and North Andover will be satisfied with this running time and will make an attempt to have the road run cars often and later.

The first car was run from North Andover over the Haverhill end of the Haverhill & Andover street railway line late on Tuesday afternoon. A car carrying the officials and other interested persons was the first to make the trip. The car proceeded from Suttell's corner to the break in the line in the vicinity of the Bassett residence. A car coming from Haverhill was in readiness and the run was completed to the end at the Bradford line. The reason given for the delay of the completion of the line at Bassett's is that fish plates for connecting the rails cannot be had. Following the official car were two others which on their return trip brought the workmen from their toil. The trip was very satisfactory. In connection with street railway matters it is reported that the Boston & Northern road is planning to run cars in about another week from Lawrence transfer station to Scoley Square, Boston, the trip to be made in two hours. A new line of double tracks has been laid between Reading and Wakefield over the "Willow road," an almost straight line between the two places and a very much shorter way than around the lake. This new route would enable the cars to make the run between Reading and Wakefield in about five minutes rather than 15. While it seems hardly likely that cars can be run regularly over that long distance in two hours, yet the passengers from this way will appreciate the through cars and welcome the new idea of the Boston & Northern road.

Clam Bake and Smoker.

The Cricket club held a very successful clam bake and smoker at the Abbott Village hall on last Friday evening with about 40 present.

Cards and checkers were enjoyed while the clams were being prepared by two capable chefs, J. Callum and Joseph Whittemore. When the succulent bivalves were placed before the hungry gathering, whiffs of the tempting dish had already set keen appetites on edge so that a furious onslaught soon made the clams melt away like the mist before the sun.

A splendid program was rendered consisting of songs by Frank Poland, George Johnson, Joseph Whittemore, James Riley, James Saunders and W. Haddon, and phonograph selections by W. Farley. It was due to the committee composed of Alex. Ritchie, Joseph Soutar, David Coutts, Hugh Kydd and William Farley that the affair passed off so successfully. The cigars were given to the club by a friend.

GRANGERS GATHER.

Annual Fair Being Successfully Held in West Parish Hall with Good Attendances.

Last evening the opening night of the Grange fair was held at Grange hall in the West Parish with an attendance much smaller than the excellence of the fair warranted. Of course the weather was not propitious which accounted in some measure for the small attendance but the distance from town was responsible for the lessened number of patrons from the centre district. Those who attended the fair from down town are glad they went and will probably go again tonight as both the exhibit and entertainment were worth seeing.

The fair will be continued this evening and the better weather should bring an increased attendance. Tonight there will be dancing for all, preceded by a quadrille by four couples in costume. The hall presents a very pretty appearance with its decorations of crepe paper and bunting. Down in the lower hallway a railing trimmed with bunting guarded the entrance to the hall. On the left was the check room in charge of Ralph Bailey and Willie Grosvenor. Benjamin F. Smith, Jr., was in charge of the sale of tickets and Elmer Philbrick was collector.

Most of the tables were located in the upper hall and all were handsomely decorated with colored crepe paper or bunting. Several of the tables represented different American holidays such as Fourth of July, Memorial day, Christmas and Thanksgiving, the attendants being in costume.

On the left of the entrance the fruit table is located in charge of Frank Bailey and Edward Boutwell. A hat at this table, donated by Bicknell of Lawrence, will go to the one guessing nearest to the number of seeds in a pumpkin.

Next on the left the mystery table decorated in pink and white, is in charge of Mrs. Joshua Chandler, Mrs. Ira Hill and Mrs. Asa Gould. Here is located a pair of blankets donated by Byron Truell Company, to be given to the one guessing nearest to the number of seeds in a half dozen apples. Much amusement was caused by some of the articles found in the peculiar shaped bundles.

The apron table was prettily decorated in yellow and white and was in charge of Mrs. Milo H. Gould and Mrs. Edward Burr. A carving set given by the Treat Hardware Company will be given to the one guessing nearest to the number of beans in a bottle.

A handsome cake table is decorated in red and white with Mrs. W. H. Coleman and Miss Maud Randall in charge.

The Fourth of July table is decorated in the national colors and has as attendants, Uncle Sam (George L. Averill) and Columbia (Miss Fannie Blake). Lemonade and pop corn are dispensed.

Mr. Knight has charge of a guess on the number of seeds in a package for a hat donated by the Lawrence One Price store. The home made candy table is in charge of Miss Lucia Burr and Clarence Moar and the confectionary table, trimmed with ferns over white, was looked after by Miss Clara Putnam and S. H. Boutwell.

Next in order is the flower or Memorial day table with an army nurse (Mrs. J. H. Playdon) and a G. A. R. man (Charles L. Bailey) in charge. This table makes a very beautiful showing with its many beautiful flowers. In the corner of the hall is a charming nook where one may test the ability of a lovely gypsy handmaiden who foretells the future and your pocketbook depletes. Some say the gypsy is not a real gypsy but the daughter of the worthy selectman from the South district, in disguise.

The china table is a symphony of green and white with Mrs. J. Warren Moar and Mrs. Nathan Perkins in charge. One may hazard a guess here on the number of kernels of corn in a jar for a sofa pillow donated by Mrs. Edward Boutwell.

The fancy table is as beautifully trimmed in blue and white and has Mrs. Bertha Chandler and Mrs. Fred M. Hill in charge.

At the Christmas table, resplendent in yellow and blue, where toys and dolls are displayed, we find Santa Claus (Frank Hill) and Mrs. James Feeney who will impersonate Mrs. Santa tonight.

A guess on the number of peanuts in a jar will entitle one to a sofa pillow given by Miss Lucia Burr. Mrs. Charles Hardy has this contest in charge.

The New Year's reception room is especially attractive with the cosy nooks and pretty decorations. Souvenir china is for sale and Miss Madeleine Hewes and Miss Fannie French are in charge.

Mr. James Gillen and Mrs. George Carter have charge of the canned fruit table. One may guess on the number of seeds in a squash for a pair of boots, given by Woodman of Lawrence. The grab bag is cared for by Marion Abbott and Charlotte Gleason.

The one who guesses the nearest to the number of seeds in a squash in charge of Charles Hill will be entitled to a cord of wood given by Peter D. Smith.

Down stairs, a very nice collection of vegetables raised by Edward Burr is looked after by him, and will be given to the one guessing nearest to the number of seeds in a squash. Across the hall some splendid vegetables are for sale and will be delivered free. Edward Hardy, Albert Hardy and Jas. Abbott are looking after them.

In an anteroom is the gentlemen's fancy table. On the table were three brushes, 1 basket, 1 box containing carrots, beets, potatoes and onions, 1 pipe, 1 hatchet and 1 curry.

In the supper room is the Thanksgiving table where a splendid turkey and oyster supper is served. The Grangers are justly famous for their suppers and they are living up to their reputation this year. Why more people did not go up to supper from the centre last night is a mystery. The barge leaves the square between 6 and 6:30 to carry any who desire to go, and makes another trip about 7:30. Those in charge of the Thanksgiving table were Mr. and Mrs. S. H. Bailey, Mr. and Mrs. Fred M. Hill, Mr. and Mrs. Milo H. Gould, Mr. and Mrs. John Maddox and Mr. and Mrs. William Clark.

The waiters were Russell Abbott, Victor Foster, James Abbott, Jr., and Rufus Carter.

An entertainment consisting of readings by Miss Florence E. Lutz of the School of Expression, Boston, and piano solos by Marion Abbott was given last Andover, 11; Yale '06, 0.

The Yale freshman team almost won from Phillips Andover Saturday, although the score stood 11 to 6 in favor of the academy team. Andover did splendid work in the first half, but was outplayed in the second half and but for a good fortune would have been defeated. Yale secured a touchdown early in the second half and had little difficulty in forcing the ball from the field twice more, but no scoring resulted as the ball was lost on the five-yard line for holding once and was again at that point when the game ended.

The Andover team was wholly unable to stop Yale's attack and at the end of the game nearly every man on the academy team was used up.

Andover kicked off over the Yale line, and Yale punted from the 25-yard line to Dillon at the middle of the field. Bullock gained 10 yards through centre, and Humbird added 15 around right end. Veeder and Bullock gained 10 yards apiece, and then Cates was pushed through left tackle for a touchdown. Brown kicked a goal.

After the next kick-off Andover forced the ball to Yale's 15-yard line, and then lost it on downs. Yale worked her way to Andover's 30-yard line, and lost the ball for holding in the line. Andover punted to midfield, and Yale punted off Andover's 15-yard line. Bullock made 35 yards around right end. Humbird added 10 more, and then Dillon made a quarter-back kick to Yale's 25-yard line. Thompson falling on the ball for Andover. Humbird made 10 yards through right tackle, and on the next play Bullock went through centre for a touchdown. No goal. The half ended soon after the kick-off.

In the second half Yale got the ball on her 20-yard line in the kick-off, and worked steadily down the field on line plunges for a touchdown. On the next kick-off Yale began a series of line plays, which took the ball to the five-yard line, where it was forfeited for holding. Andover punted to midfield, and Yale began to pound away again, making gain after gain through the Andover line, again taking the ball to the five-yard line, when time was called.

Andover F. B. T. o; Reading Y. M. C. A. o.

The Town team visited Reading last Saturday and played the Y. M. C. A. team of that town to a standstill. The unevenness of the field prevented the use of end runs making it necessary to use tackle and centre plays entirely. Reading's heavy line could in a measure stop the locals from making any substantial gains at this style of play, Andover in return holding them for downs time after time.

The game developed into a kicking match between the two fullbacks, Maloney having the better of the argument by far. A return game will be played with Reading Y. M. C. A. on the P. A. campus, Nov. 22. The tie score of last Saturday will make this game well worth seeing.

Notes.

Daly, who formerly played with Villa Nova, is coaching the line men and a big improvement has marked the result of his efforts already. It is hoped that an old Yale player will be coaching the backs before long.

There has been some talk of having an electric arrangement put up back of Puncard to light up the field. If such a thing can be done it will be of vast assistance to the team in practicing and will also be very much appreciated by the people who dislike to see the street being used for a gridiron.

Arrangements are well under way for the Lynn High game on Thanksgiving and the hearty support of the townspeople is only needed to make this game the best ever played in town on that day.

The grill work for the desks at the Town clerk's office has arrived.

There seems to be little doubt but that Andover will be without the services of Captain Cates tomorrow as his shoulder is in a very bad condition. Stuart will fill his position in the line. Andover's line-up will probably be as follows: Sumner and Schludmiller, l e; Stuart, l t; Andrews, l g; Guiney, c; Thompson, r g; Conrad, r t; Brown, r e; Dillon, q b; Humbird, l h b; Veeder and Reynolds, r h b; Bullock, f b. Exeter is the favorite outside of Andover and betting favors her. Among the well informed, however, Andover is thought to have an even chance if the day is a dry one.

"I suppose your chances of winning the affections of Miss Gay are as good as the next fellow's." "She called me 'Jim' very affectionately last night." "You don't say? Well, that's promising, isn't it?" "Hardly, considering that my name happens to be Tom."—Philadelphia Press.

"Doc," he said, as he hurried into the famous oculist's office, "I've got something in my eye and it's nearly killing me." "Just take a seat in this chair," the doctor answered, "and we'll have it out in a jiffy."

"The sufferer sat down and drew a long breath. Then he suddenly straightened up, as the doctor was about to proceed, and said: 'Hold on. By George, I want some friend here as a witness.'" majority in National House of Twenty-Five—Ames for Congress and Frost for Mass. Senate.

REPUBLICAN VICTORY.

Vote of Lawrence and District.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5.—The latest returns received up to 10:30 o'clock last night show that the Republicans (including in this description the fusionists elected from the Pittsburg-Alleghany districts in Pennsylvania) will control the next House by a vote of 204 Republicans to 155 Democrats with one district, the eighth Tenn., and two California districts remaining so much in doubt that the official returns will be needed to decide the result. The totals given are believed to be correct, although there are a few districts, such as two in Colorado and one in Minnesota where the Republican and Democratic party managers respectively do not concede defeat, but the general result could not be affected even should their claims prove well founded. The table by states is as follows:

State	Dem.	Rep.
Alabama	9	—
Arkansas	7	—
California	2	4
Colorado	3	—
Connecticut	1	—
Delaware	1	—
Florida	3	—

The eighth Tenn. and the first and second California districts are not included in this table, being classified as doubtful, leaving three votes to be returned to the columns according to later returns.

VOTE OF LAWRENCE.

There was a big vote cast in this city Tuesday, a total of 3198 which is much larger than the vote at the state election in 1901. Victory perched on the Republican banners. The Democrats carried the city but except in the Sixth Representative district the Republicans were victorious in all the local contests. Senator Frost was re-elected by a handsome majority over Amos Cloutier. Butler Ames easily carried the Fifth Congressional district against John T. Sparks, two Republican representatives were elected in the seventh district and John N. Cole decisively defeated John H. Morse, the Democratic candidate for representative in the eighth district. Otto Mueller, Democratic candidate for representative in the seventh district ran 47 votes behind John H. Spinlow and he will ask for a recount. All three Democratic candidates for representative in the Sixth district were elected. Speaking of the result of his contest Senator Archie N. Frost said: "Of course naturally I am greatly pleased with the result of the election. I regard it as a personal endorsement by the voters, especially so when I consider that I had a larger number of votes than the head of the ticket. Of course also the extra work of the management of the congressional campaign tendered in a great measure to the neglect of my own, so that the results are doubly pleasing. For six consecutive years I have been upon the ballot as a candidate for office and each time have received the same handsome support on the part of my fellow citizens never yet having been defeated. For all this good will I now wish to return my sincere thanks to my constituents and as the best expression of my gratitude pledge my best efforts in their behalf not alone as a senator but in whatever capacity, private or otherwise, I may happen at any time to be."

DO NOT LIKE THE NEW LAW.

Reports from the industrial centres of Massachusetts indicate for the most part dissatisfaction with the working of the new election law, which forbids establishments to open until two hours after the opening of the polls. Both mill men and operatives in this city are dissatisfied. The small retailers in Worcester ignore the new law, but it is not very well obeyed. Some Taunton manufacturers forgot all about the new law, but there were no complaints. The innovation pleased New Bedford so well that the millhands want it made half a day instead of two hours. The new law lost 500 votes in Clinton, two unions voting to refrain from voting in order to protest against the statute. In Fall River the new law brought out 2000 more votes than before. Lowell manufacturers may contest the law as unconstitutional. Polls may be opened at 5 a. m. next time. The new law did not give satisfaction here. The mill men did not like it and the operatives are very much dissatisfied as it affects their pay. What undoubtedly had some effect on the early voting here, those who watched the polling places during the early hours of the morning say that very few more operatives voted before 8 o'clock than usual, and many of the operatives admit that they took the opportunity to remain in bed longer than usual. The local opinion is clearly set forth in the following statement made by Agent Walter E. Parker of the of the Pacific mills, to a Telegram reporter: "The operatives are accusing the mill managers of being the author of the law, with which they are evidently greatly dissatisfied. Of course they are entirely wrong in their conclusions. We would much prefer to have things as they were before. We pay for services of course and cannot pay the operatives when they do not work. As the mills ran one hour and a half less time than usual Tuesday, the pay of the help had to be reduced accordingly. "I understand that in some precincts the vote was not larger at 8 o'clock than in former years. It is true that there was a larger vote in some precincts early in the day, but I know that many operatives simply remained in bed longer than usual. Some operatives got up at the same time, but devoted the hour and a half to other business and did not vote before 8 o'clock." One of the strongest arguments against the law is the fact that the statute makes it impossible for the female operatives to earn a full day's pay, and even if the law should be regarded as a benefit to voters it does not give advantages to women. "There is a disagreement as to the extent of the effect of the vote of the city. Some think that the big vote cast was due wholly to the law and others claim that while the law may have brought the vote out earlier, the fine weather and interest in the various campaigns was responsible for the size of the vote."

"Half my patients need more iron," said "our doctor." Iron makes rich, red blood. Yet it is very hard to give iron so it will do any good. There are thousands of keys in the world—only one or two unlock your door. So we know of only one or two combinations of iron that seem to do the work. By far the most generally useful prescription we know of is Vinol. It has helped a great many cases in this town. It contains the medicinal qualities of cod liver oil, iron—that-can-be-digested, and a little table wine. It works wonders in weak women, pale children, old people, and any run-down condition. Money back if you want it.
